DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

1. The drawings are objected to because Fig 5 includes two elements with the description “3rd Operation Unit”, it appears (from the specification) that element 231 should be labeled “1st Operation Unit” to remedy this discrepancy. Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as “amended.” If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either “Replacement Sheet” or “New Sheet” pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

Art Unit: 2622

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 9-11 and 13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by WO

02/098142, Isono et al..

In considering claims 9-11 and 13,

As shown in Fig 2, the system includes a comparative section 102 which receives sensed values from sensors 101, where the section may include such a section upto the number of sensors (8 as shown), which receives the sensed signal via comparator 110 (meeting the 1st and 2nd comparing units), an inverter 111 (meeting the 1st and 2nd inverter units), a latch 112 (meeting the claimed 1st and 2nd latch units) which supplies the microprocessor 113 (in system controller 103) the information required for controlling convergence, where the convergence control signal is sent to convergence controller 105. As stated in the disclosure the comparators may receive the sensed signal via a resistor or an OP Amp (meeting the claimed amplifiers).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 12 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being obvious over applicant's cited WO 02/098142, Isono et al.

In considering claim 12,

Isono discloses a Q/R Latch, thus does not explicitly recite the use of a D-type flip flop for latching the output values. Since the use of a variety of latches are available, off the shelf items, the use of such is considered to be an obvious design choice to one of ordinary skill in the art in the field of endeavor. In the event the applicant disagrees with this assertion, the examiner requests the applicant to explain why D-type flip flops were not known/or were unable to be used in the field of endeavor.

Allowable Subject Matter

4. Claims 1-8 are allowed.

Conclusion

5. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure—see newly cited references on attached form PTO-892.

The Patent Electronic Business Center (EBC) allows USPTO customers to retrieve data, check the status of pending actions, and submit information and applications. The tools currently available in the Patent EBC are Patent Application Information Retrieval (PAIR) and the Electronic Filing System (EFS). PAIR (<http://pair.uspto.gov>) provides customers direct secure access to their own patent application status information, as well as to general patent information publicly available. EFS allows customers to electronically file patent application documents securely via the Internet. EFS is a system for submitting new utility patent applications and pre-grant publication submissions in electronic publication-ready form. EFS includes software to help customers prepare submissions in extensible Markup Language (XML) format and to assemble the various parts of the application as an electronic submission package. EFS also allows the submission of Computer Readable Format (CRF) sequence listings for pending biotechnology patent applications, which were filed in paper form.
